“ But of all the novels of the season none deserves more cordial and lasting recognition as a piece of exceptional creative work than UNDER THE ROSE, by Frederic S. Isham. It takes us back to the days of Rabelais, the days of jesters and mountebanks and troubadours. And while the setting is that of the court of France, the impression made by the book is that of vivid, pulsing human life, the life that is as real and true to-day as it was four centuries ago.”

The Mystery of Murray Davenport

BY

ROBERT NEILSON STEPHENS

Author of

"Philip Winwood," "An Enemy to the King," etc.

$1.50

In his latest novel, Mr. Stephens has made a radical departure from the themes of his previous successes. Turning from past days and distant scenes, he has taken up American life of to-day as his new field, therein proving himself equally capable. Original in its conception, striking in its psychological interest, perplexing in its love problem, "The Mystery of Murray Davenport" is the most vital and absorbing of all of Mr. Stephens' novels, and will add not a little to his reputation.

RECENTLY ISSUED

A Stage Story

A DAUGHTER OF THESPIS

By JOHN D. BARRY

Author of "Mlle. Blanche," "Princess Margarethe," etc.

$1.50

The author's experiences as a dramatic critic have brought him into close touch with stage conditions, enabling him to write with authority on the various phases of stage life, both in New York and on the road. In his latest novel he portrays in a wonderfully realistic and sympathetic manner, both sides of the life—the trials as well as the rewards.

A Story of Ward Politics

The Spoilsmen

By ELLIOTT FLOWER

Author of

"Policeman Flynn," etc.

$1.50.

"The best one may hear of 'The Spoilsmen' will be none too good. As a wide-awake, snappy, brilliant political story it has few equals. One should not miss a word of a book like this at a time like this, and in a world of politics like this."—Boston Transcript.

The Scotch-English Success

Wee Macgreegor

By J. J. Bell

Press Comments

Pall Mall Gazette.—

"One of the most amusing and enjoyable studies that has come under our notice for a long time."

The Morning Leader.—

"These adventures (of Wee Macgreegor) are absolutely commonplace, and are related without a trace of exaggeration, whether comic or sentimental, yet with such knowledge, sympathy, and delicate art as to make them not only delightful but now and then actually touching. The father and mother are quite as well drawn as the son, and the trio are unforgettable."

on English Edition

Dundee Advertiser.—

"'Wee Macgreegor' is the creation of a genuine humorist."

The Sketch.—"One may well hope that the author will give us something more in the same vein."

London Bookman.—"A book of genuine humor.

... Recent fiction has given us no more delightfully whimsical or quietly sympathetic creations than this sturdy, human, young-laddie, his father and mother and his small sister Jeannie."

16mo, Ornamented Cloth, $1.00

A NEW writer has suddenly appeared in Scotland who is more than rivalling Ian Maclaren and J. M. Barrie in popularity, while differing widely from either one of them in his portrayal of Scottish character. Mr. Bell has admirably told the humorous and realistic story of a little Glasgow boy, "Wee Macgreegor," of his father, who slyly pets and spoils him, and of his mother, who adores and disciplines him—three unforgettable people who live actually before us in the author's exquisite and sincere work.

In this story of "Wee Macgreegor," and in his relations to his humble but lovable family and friends, there is a suggestion of "A Window in Thrums," which made J. M. Barrie's reputation; and, on the other hand, its humor and fun are as entertaining as "Helen's Babies." It is a unique contribution to modern literature, and comes as a real surprise to the British and American public. The book has taken England by storm in spite of its Scottish dialect and has made the fortune of its young author.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will issue on May 9 "His Daughter First," by Arthur Sherburne Hardy, now United States Minister to Spain, which is a triple love story of present-day life in America, in which stock market complications play an important part. Mr. Hardy's matured art will insure his latest novel many appreciative readers.

THE SMART SET PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish on the first of May a romantic love story, entitled "A Puritan Witch," by Marvin Dana, author of "The Woman of Orchids," etc. The story deals with witchcraft in the Puritan days of New England, and abounds in action and sentiment. It will have illustrations, in photogravures, by P. R. Audibert.

L. C. PAGE & Co. publish to-day "The Mystery of Murray Davenport," by Robert Neilson Stephens, who has turned from the past days of "Philip Winwood" and "An Enemy to the King," and written a story of American life of the hour. Their recent novels, "A Daughter of Thespis," by John D. Barry, and "The Spoilsmen," by Elliott Flower, have already found a place among the steady sellers.

D. LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready "Darrell of the Blessed Isles," by Irving Bacheller, author of "Eben Holden," who has again presented a scholar, wit, philosopher and—tinker of clocks. It is a cheerful, optimistic tale in which there are many fine characters, notably a fine country school-master and a rustic horseman irresistibly droll and comic. "The Master of Warlock," by George Cary Eggleston, and "The Captain," in which Churchill Williams tells the story of General Grant in fiction, are becoming more and more popular day by day.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "The Kaiser's Speeches," based upon a compilation made by A. Oscar Klausmann, translated and edited by Wolf von Schierbrand, with many interesting annotations; "How to Keep Household Accounts," a manual of family finance by L. W. Haskins, late Dean of the New York University School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance; also, "Pearl Island," by Andrew Caster, the story of two boys who are wrecked upon a far off island and lived a Robinson Crusoe life, learning much about the queer vegetables and animals of sea islands.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. announce a collection of the drawings of that delightful humorist John T. McCutcheon who draws the daily cartoons in the Chicago Record-Herald. George Ade has supplied a characteristic and satisfactory introduction to these pictures of political and everyday life of the present hour. The house has also just issued "The Ward of King Canute," by Otilie A. Liljencrantz, whose "Thrall of Leif the Lucky" has met with so much appreciation; "The Souls of Black Folk," by W. E. Burghardt Dubois, a colored man who has been graduated from Fiske University, from Harvard and from the University of Berlin; and "The Reflections of a Lonely Man," by a subtle thinker who conceals his identity under the initials "A. C. M."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready "The Impeachment and Trial of Andrew Johnson, Seventeenth President of the United States," by David Miller De Witt; "Spinoza's Political and Ethical Philosophy," by Robert A. Duff, lecturer on moral and political philosophy in the University of Glasgow; and "The Supernatural Element in Our Lord's Earthly Life in Relation to Historical Methods of Study," a paper read at Sion College, London, by F. H. Chase, President of Queen's College. Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," edited with notes by Alfred W. Pollard, are added to the English Classics; Charles Kingsley's "Water Babies," to the Illustrated Pocket Classics; Frances Burney's "Evelina," in two volumes, to the Temple Classics; and "Heroes of the Norselands," by Katherine F. Bault, and "Tom Brown's School Days," illustrated by T. H. Robinson, to the Temple Classics for the Young.

Eliot, C. W. More money for the public schools. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1903. c. 2+193 p. D. cl., $1 net.

President Eliot, of Harvard University and also at the time of writing President of the American Educational Association, sums up in a large way the results of public education—its benefits and its shortcomings. He makes a definitely constructive plan for producing better results; he explains in detail what most needs to be done for the improvement of our schools; he urges a greatly increased expenditure, and he shows how it could be most advantageously spent.

Gerard, Dorothea, [now Mme. Longard de Longarde.] The eternal woman. N. Y., Brentano's, [1903.] 4+327 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

At twenty, Clara Wood, after having been brought up to expect a fortune finds herself absolutely penniless by the sudden death of her adopted mother. She goes through several disagreeable experiences in the capacity of governess, her good looks making her an object of interest to the men of the families where she is employed. Disgusted with governessing she determines to devote her talents to obtaining a husband and intrigues to become the nurse of a feeble-minded woman, that she may have a chance to exercise her fascinations upon her artist son. Miss Wood has avowedly aimed to follow in the footsteps of "Becky Sharp" but her conscience makes itself heard in the most critical moments of her career.

The subject of osmotic pressure has recently become a very important one in physiology. On the animal side, the work of Loeb and others has pointed out that the osmotic pressure of the liquid in which organisms are growing often determines, in a large measure, how they will grow and what form they will take. With plants the same is true as has been conclusively shown by the experiments of the author with lower forms. Thus his volume fills a need felt by students of both branches of physiology. The discussion is always from the standpoint of plant life, but where evidence from the animal side is needed it is brought in.

The scene is laid in the secluded farming region of southern Pennsylvania some thirty years ago and the story is chiefly concerned with the fortunes of the spirited and beautiful young lady whose name gives the book a title. She and her sister and a Virginia aunt are left, by the death of her father, in financial straits and with a huge unremunerative estate. Their family pride revolts at the changes and improvements suggested by the common sense of their guardian. It is he who brings young John Burt from the north as overseer, in the hope of saving the situation by business management. The resulting love story (or double love story) is full of charm.

The success of Miss White's first volume "How to make baskets" has led to this companion work, which treats of more advanced basket-making. Shapes and weaves of greater beauty and intricacy are described, with new appliances, unusual materials, the making of mats and chair seats, and numberless other matters, about many of which the readers of the initial volume have written for information.

Whitson, J: H. Barbara: a woman of the west; il. by Chase Emerson. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 4+314 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

An American novel, dealing with life in the far west. The scenes of the story are a western ranch, Cripple Creek, and the city of San Diego. The heroine, Barbara, is a new type.

Willard, Josiah Flynt, ["Josiah Flynt," pseud.] The rise of Ruderick Clowd. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 4+370 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

The story of a "successful crook" who eventually became an honest man.

William II., (Emperor.) The Kaiser's speeches forming a character portrait of Emperor William II.; tr. and ed., with annotations, by Wolf von Schierbrand, based upon a compilation made by A. Oscar Klausmann. N. Y., Harper, 1903. [Ap.] c. 31+333 p. por. O. cl., $2.50 net.

These speeches are grouped under subject headings such as "The Kaiser for peace and reconciliation," "Promoting the welfare of the empire," "The Kaiser in more intimate circles." All of the Kaiser's important speeches are given in full, particularly those in which he touches upon American affairs and topics of interest to Americans. One can form a very just estimate of the emperor's life and character from the work. Also gives his mottoes and his most characteristic sayings before and after he became emperor.

Williamson, C: Norris and A. M. The lighting conductor; the strange adventures of a motor-car. 4th ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1903. c. 2+344 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Williamson, G: M. Catalogue of a collection of books, letters and manuscripts written by Walt Whitman; in the library of G. M. Williamson; printed by Frank E. Hopkins at the Marion Press, Jamaica. N. Y., for sale by Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. Hand-made pap. ed., $10.

Wilson, W: R. A. A rose of Normandy; il. by Ch. Grunwald. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1903. [Ap.] c. 8+379 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Court life in France, and the explorations of La Salle, the love of his lieutenant, Henri de Tonti, the hero, for Renee, the "Rose of Normandy," and their adventures make up a spirited story.

SHALL DEALERS IN OLD BOOKS BE CLASSED AS JUNKDEALERS?

THE New York dealer in old books is now called upon, as were his confrères in several New England cities, a few years ago, to protect himself against the enforcement of a city ordinance which, the more closely it is analyzed, threatens to work great mischief and harm not only to the so-called second-hand bookseller, but to every bookseller who may buy a book on a "pick-up" order. In another column we give the text of the sections of the ordinance which would include the bookseller among junkdealers under the heading of dealers in "other articles," from which it appears that no dealer shall purchase a second-hand article between sunset and seven o'clock the following morning, nor may he purchase it in any place except at his own store. This would practically prevent a bookseller from calling at the home of a customer to make a bid on a library that might be offered. The ordinance further provides that an accurate record of every purchase made shall be kept by the dealer, including the name of the person from whom the article was bought, the hour and date of purchase, the price paid, and a similar record of the sale of the same article. How this would affect a purchase of say a thousand books, in a lump, at $100, at an auction sale, and the sale of each individual item, can be better imagined than described. Then, all such items must not be sold until the expiration of one month after such purchase, and when they are sold they must be offered in the condition in which they were bought. In the first place, a dealer must lose the use of his working capital for thirty days, forfeit his interest, and then be debarred from enhancing the value of his purchase by adding thereto, or to recoup himself in another direction by abstracting something from one purchase and adding it to another. It would make it illegal for a bookseller to repair a mutilated book, to have it rebound, or to take from it certain parts, a portrait or leaves, to complete another volume that may be made more desirable and complete by the addition of certain missing parts.

Such an ordinance, if enforced, would practically paralyze the trade in second-hand books and seriously annoy every retail dealer who desires to supply his customers with out-of-print books, as well as auctioneers and jobbers. It is no doubt desirable that the public should be protected against thieves; but the laws looking towards the prevention of thefts should not work hardship to respectable merchants. The line between a "fence" and reputable dealers in old books like those represented at Wednesday's meeting in Anderson's auction rooms may be easily drawn, and every honest man in the trade is willing to co-operate with the city officials to take such action as will give every reasonable protection against crooks, housebreakers and dishonest servants. We are certain that even now, without special legislation, dealers in second-hand books take every precaution possible in buying, and, when deceived, offer every opportunity to the one who is robbed to recover or to trace the stolen article regardless of cost or trouble. We have no doubt, therefore, if the matter be properly presented to the "powers that be," that relief will be speedily procured. If we should be mistaken, then legislation must be secured that will free the book-trade of New York City from such mischievous interpretation of the ordinance as now contemplated.

THE notice of the memorial of George Palmer Putnam, printed in last week's issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, was made without the knowledge or previous assent of the author of the memorial, or of other members of the firm and family; and lest some misapprehension should arise from this publication we wish to explain that a very limited edition of the memorial was printed, for private distribution only, as stated, and that no copies have been sent out to the press for review purposes. This explanation is made in justice to those concerned, and also lest requests should be made which cannot be complied with from members of the trade who honor or who knew the elder Putnam, and who have been in close relations with the Putnam house since. Copies were sent, outside the family, only to a few personal friends of George Palmer Putnam, and it is not intended to reprint the memorial in other shape.

DEALERS IN OLD BOOKS PROTEST AGAINST BEING CLASSED WITH JUNKSELLERS.

UPWARDS of fifty dealers in old books in New York and vicinity met at the auction rooms of John Anderson, 91 Fifth Avenue, to protest against the proposed enforcement of the city ordinance relating to dealers in second-hand goods, in so far as the ordinance may be made to apply also to dealers in second-hand books. The call for the meeting had been sent out by Isaac Mendoza, who explained that he had been notified twice by the police that he must procure a license for the conduct of his business, according to the following provisions of the "General Ordinance of the City of New York under the Greater New York Charter":

Article XVI. Dealers in second-hand articles and keepers of junk shops.

551 [29] The Mayor may, from time to time, grant licenses, under his hand and seal, to such persons as shall produce to him satisfactory evidence of good character, to exercise or carry on the business of dealing in the purchase and sale of second-hand furniture, metal, clothes or other articles, in the city.

552 [30] Every person receiving such license shall pay therefor the sum of twenty-five dollars, which shall be applied toward the support of the poor of the city.

553 [31] Every person so licensed shall, at the time of receiving such license, enter, with two sufficient sureties, into a joint and several recognizance, to the mayor, aldermen and commonalty of the City of New York, in a penalty of five hundred dollars, conditioned for the due observance of all such ordinances of the Common Council as may be in force or passed respecting dealers in second-hand articles, at any time during the continuance of such license.

554 [32] Every such dealer shall keep a book in which shall be fairly written, at the time of the purchase of any article, or thing in the way of his or her business, an accurate account and description of the article or thing so purchased, the price paid therefor, the precise time of making such purchase, and the name and residence of the person from whom such purchase was made.

555 [33] The said book shall, at all reasonable times, be opened to the inspection of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, city magistrates and chief of police, of the City of New York, or any or either of them, or of any person who shall be duly authorized, in writing, for that purpose by any or either of them, and who shall exhibit such written authority to such dealer.

557 [34] No article or thing, except wooden furniture, stoves and kitchen utensils, which shall be purchased by any such dealer in the way of his or her business, shall be sold or disposed of by such dealer until the expiration of one month after such purchase.

572 No dealer in second-hand articles shall deface, mutilate, take apart, or in any way alter, or permit to be defaced, mutilated, taken apart, or in any way altered, any article or thing which shall come into his or her possession in the way of his or her business, but the same shall be sold or offered for sale in the same form, state and condition in which it was when first received by him or her, under the penalty of one hundred dollars for every such offence.

The meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Simon Brentano, showed the utmost unanimity in opposition to the enforcement of this ordinance, which was declared to be harmful and unjust to every dealer in second-hand books. After a thorough discussion of the matter the following resolutions were presented and passed without a dissenting voice:

WHEREAS, An ordinance of the City of New York, known more particularly as Sections 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34 and 572 of the General Ordinances of the City of New York, and having relation to dealers in second-hand articles, is, since its original enactment some years ago, now for the first time being applied to dealers in second-hand books, and

WHEREAS, There is reasonable doubt whether it was contemplated or intended to bring within the scope and under the supervision and regulation of said Ordinances, second-hand book dealers, and

WHEREAS, The said ordinances, if enforced, would be harmful and unjust and cause unnecessary loss to those engaged in the business of and dealers in second-hand books, therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to confer with the Mayor and other city officials of the city government in regard to the abrogation of these ordinances so far as they relate to dealers in books.

The following committee was appointed to confer with the mayor and to report at a meeting to be called probably next week: Isaac Mendoza, John R. Anderson, J. O. Wright, S. F. McLean and Frederick D. Lacey of G. P. Putnam's Sons. This committee was also authorized, in case immediate action should be taken by the city officers, to assist, by procuring legal advice or otherwise, any dealer who may be subjected to the penalties provided for under the ordinance.

The following firms were represented either in person or by proxies: Brentano's, Charles Scribner's Sons, G. P. Putnam's Sons, Dodd, Mead & Co., American Baptist Publication Society, Doubleday, Page & Co., S. F. McLean & Co., W. Jackson, Everitt, Francis & Co., John R. Anderson Co., John Anderson, Jr., S. G. Rains Co., Frederick W. Morris, George W. Smith, Eugene H. Levy, I. Mendoza, Alexander Dixon, Ammon & Mackel, N. M. Ladd, W. H. Parker, E. P. Dutton & Co., Baker & Taylor Company, A. Lovering, J. Rosenbaum, P. T. Cunningham, J. C. Loy, James McGlynn, E. W. Johnson, Wm. Ewing, J. O. Wright, G. C. Bartlett, Liberty Bookstore, F. P. Harper, S. B. Luyster, Alex. McNally, E. D. North, W. S. Dunbar, C. S. Pratt, Henry Malkan, Adolph Stager, George M. Dressel, J. Abrahams, Max H. Kaufman, P. Stammer, A. Deutschberger, Edwin Cox Walker, all of New York City; and George Kleinteich and D. Dunn, of Brooklyn.

A DUN IS DECLARED A CRIMINAL THREAT.

SOME weeks ago we noted the fact that the Woodward Publishing Company of New York, or, rather, its manager, William H. England, had sued the Stationers' Board of Trade, through its former secretary, Edward H. Loveless, for violating Section 559 of the New York Penal Code, by sending him a letter threatening to notify the members of the Board that they were obliged to sue the Woodward Publishing Company, to collect a debt of $15, unless he settled by January 29, at one o'clock in the afternoon.

At the final hearing at the Court of Special Sessions in New York, on April 14, Mr. Loveless was found guilty and fined $10. Justices Mayer, Wyatt and McKean, Justice Wyatt dissenting, in rendering the decision, said: "The purpose here was not to give a notice to the members of the Stationers' Board of Trade for their benefit, but was solely to force the complainant into a position where he would be compelled to pay. In other words, there was an attempt to usurp the function of the courts and to compel the complainant to satisfy a claim in controversy."

THE UNITED STATES DIRECTORY COMPANY FINED.

TEN days in jail and a fine of $1000 was the penalty imposed by Judge Lacombe in the United States Circuit Court, New York, on April 22, for contempt of court, on J. Power Fallon, president and principal owner of the United States Directory Company, and John F. Dwyer, an employee of the concern. Fallon was committed to Ludlow Street Jail. Dwyer, Marshal Henkel said, would soon be found.

An injunction suit was brought against the Fallon concern by the Chicago Directory Company and the Trow Directory Company to stop its appropriating their names. To prove that it was not appropriating their names Fallon presented in court sixteen pages alleged to be from the Chicago section of his directory, which pages, Judge Lacombe says, were fabricated after the suit was begun. Judge Lacombe says: "This is a very gross piece of contempt, and the only reason the imprisonment prescribed therefor is made so brief is because the same acts constitute a criminal offence for which, despite the infliction of penalty for contempt, the guilty parties may be imprisoned."

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—Albert H. Hall, who thirteen years ago left the employ of Damrell & Upham to take charge of the Harvard Co-operative Society at Cambridge, has severed his connection with the Society to assume his position as secretary of the Old Corner Bookstore that was incorporated last December with Winthrop Ames as president and George A. Moore as treasurer.

BURLINGTON, IA.—E. C. Gnahn has just opened up here one of the most complete lines of books and stationery.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IA.—F. A. Hall, stationer and bookseller, has gone into voluntary liquidation.

DAYTON, O.—The United Brethren Publishing House have secured the services as superintendent of W. G. Clippinger, formerly with Dodd, Mead & Co. He will reorganize the book, stationery and art departments and is planning some new and attractive features for the business.

DES MOINES, IA.—The City Book and Stationery Co. have succeeded the Schissler Chase Co.

HEMET, CAL.—Thrall & Kelley have been succeeded by Miss E. R. Tripp.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.—Robert W. Taber, bookseller, has gone into voluntary bankruptcy.

PEORIA, ILL.—P. A. Cramer has discontinued business.

PEORIA, ILL.—The Richardson Book and Stationery Company has moved from Mattoon, Ill., to Peoria, where the company has fitted up an elegant store and is doing a large business.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

WEST PUBLISHING COMPANY VS. EDWARD THOMPSON CO.

ALLEGING infringement of their copyrights, the West Publishing Company, of St. Paul, Minn., one of the largest law publishing concerns of the West, filed a bill of complaint in the United States Circuit Court, Brooklyn, on April 16, against the Edward Thompson Company, of Northport, L. I., averring that loss and damage by reason of the violation of copyrights by the latter company amount to $1,000,000. It is said to be the largest copyright suit ever brought in the United States.

Following a motion to be heard on May 1 for a preliminary injunction to restrain the Edward Thompson Company from further sale of its publications until final determination of the case, argument will be heard in a petition for a decree compelling the Thompson Company to pay over the amount of profits realized on the sale of an encyclopedia of law, the amount of damage suffered by the West Company from such publications and the cost of the suit.

The bill in equity accompanying the complaint states that the Thompson Company's "American and English Encyclopedia of Law" and the "Encyclopedia of Pleading and Practice" have been largely made from the copyrighted matter of the West Company. The plaintiffs place on exhibition, side by side, more than one thousand extracts from their own publications and from the Thompson Company's works, which they allege are parallel. They cite in detail over nine thousand specific articles which they assert are infringements of copyrights which cost them $3,000,000.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE May issue of The Bookman contains an interesting record of the "Successful Books and Authors During the First Eight Years of The Bookman, 1895-1902."

The Atlantic for May brings an article by George A. Gordon on "Emerson as a Religious Teacher;" a criticism by Mrs. Harriet Waters Preston on "Lady Rose's Daughter," and on the novels of Mr. Norris; and a review of "New Garden Books," by Frances Duncan.

NOTHING that Doubleday, Page & Co. have done with their superb magazine, Country Life in America, has been more practical and useful than the big "Vacation Number" which they have just brought out. It may safely be recommended to any one who may be undecided or who wants to know more about successful vacations, about aquatic sports, camping, canoeing, cruising, driving, fishing, houseboats, riding, mountain-climbing, wheeling, as well as vegetable and flower gardening, or travelling by land or sea. A new feature of this handsome magazine is a "Traveler's Calendar," which is to tell each month of the places most attractive to the country-lover, and information for reaching these places will be furnished by a new and well worked out plan.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will bring out early in the fall a biography of Henry Ward Beecher, by Lyman Abbott.

THE CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN PUBLISHING HOUSE has just ready "Hirano," a story of a Japanese town, by Rev. John E. Hail, of Japan.

JOHN JOSEPH McVEY, 39 North Thirteenth Street, Philadelphia, has taken over Dr. Ida A. Keller's Exercises in Botany, in Zoology and in Chemistry.

LAIRD & LEE have just issued "The Danger Line," by Lawrence L. Lynch, (E. M. Van Deventer,) whose long list of novels are already well established among the favorites.

GODFREY A. S. WIENERS, New York City, has just brought out "Aubrey Beardsley's Drawings," a catalogue and a list of criticisms by A. E. Gallatin, very tastefully gotten up.

MARTINUS NIJHOFF, 114 Fifth Avenue, New York City, has for sale a few copies of each volume of "San Marco, Venice," a monumental publication, which he offers at very moderate price.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York City, has just issued "Until Seventy Times Seven," an excellent story full of kind and helpful thoughts admirably adapted for Sunday-school libraries.

SNOW & FARNHAM, Providence, R. I., will issue "A Year at Brown," by Frederick William Jones, of the class of '96, with pictures by Sydney R. Burleigh, a book of short stories relating to student life at Brown University.

THE PILGRIM PRESS has just issued in book form the very interesting articles which appeared in the Congregationalist on "Phillips Brooks As His Friends Knew Him." They have gotten it up as a handsome memorial volume.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY are to issue S. R. Crockett's "Flower-o'-the-Corn" in which the author again has taken the field with pure historical romance and has prepared a picturesque tale full of emotion and action. The Duke of Wellington appears in the story.

THE FRIEDENWALD COMPANY, Baltimore, Md., have just issued "Optimism and Pessimism in the Old and New Testaments," by Adolf Gutmacher, of Johns Hopkins University, who presents the arguments of the various opposing schools with scholarship and acumen.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co., Philadelphia, will publish at once "The Peril and the Preservation of the Home," by Jacob A. Riis, who sets forth the great and serious peril that besets the American home, especially in the slum districts of the large cities, and also shows how the evil may be met and finally overcome.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, have ready an edition of Swift's "A Tale of a Tub," containing the author's apology, and in addition to the notes of previous commentators a great many new ones. It is printed from a new font of Cadmus type and special headbands, tail-pieces and initials have been drawn for it.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY are announcing an edition of J. J. Bell's "Wee Macgregor." They have also a new line of twenty-five stories to be known as Eureka Detective Stories, and are bringing out an attractive edition of the thirteen best stories of Laura Jean Libbey, which they offer the trade at extremely favorable rates.

HENRY MALKAN, 1 William Street, New York, has ready the third edition of "Indian Basketry," by George Wharton James, to which has now being added the author's other book, "How to Make Indian and Other Baskets," although it can also still be obtained as a separate book by those who have the earlier editions of "Indian Basketry."

J. S. FARMER, 18 Bury Street, London, Eng., has published six of the seven volumes of his dictionary entitled "Slang and its Analogues." Concurrently with the seventh volume he will publish a revised edition of volume one, which he frankly pronounces inferior to the other volumes. This is not obligatory on subscribers to the entire work.

THE BURROWS BROTHERS COMPANY have just published a "History of Early Steamboat Navigation on the Missouri River," by Hiram Martin Chittenden, giving the life and adventures of Joseph La Barge, pioneer navigator and trader, for fifty years identified with the commerce of the Missouri Valley. The work is in two volumes and limited to 950 copies.

HENRY S. DEAN, the managing director of Dean & Son, Ltd., the well-known London publishers, is visiting this country to make a study of American methods on the spot, as well as to place on the American market a big novelty in the way of children's books. Mr. Dean is stopping at the Manhattan Hotel in New York City, and will be glad to hear from any of his confreres on this side.

JOHN LANE has just ready "The American Advance: a Study in Territorial Expansion," by H. J. Carpenter, with a map showing the gradual growth of the United States from the Revolution to the present day. He will publish shortly "Walks in New England," by Charles Goodrich Whiting, richly illustrated; also, "Love Songs from the Greek," by Jane Minot Savage, which will form volume XII. of the Lovers' Library.

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING Co., Boston, have received notice from two Philadelphia clergymen that they will preach about "On Satan's Mount" on some Sunday in the near future. The striking poster this house has issued will be used in Philadelphia to advertise these sermons. This firm has now given the title of "Marjie of the Lower Ranch" to the book thus far announced as "A Ranch Romance by a Real Ranch Girl."

FREDERICK J. DRAKE & Co., Chicago, have just ready "A Treatise on the Practical Uses of the Steel Square," the life work of Fred T. Hodgson, an exhaustive collection of steel square problems and solutions; "The Standard Drill and Marching Book," by Edwin Ellis; Charles K. Harris's "Complete Songster;" and "Gypsy Witch Fortune Telling Cards." Later they will bring out several technical books on various occupations.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just issued "The Samaritans," by John Alexander Stewart, a novel of the tenement residents of London in the overcrowded East Side, where the heroine and a young man from the United States begin processes of regeneration that have far-reaching results; "A Life for God in India," by Helen A. Dyer; and "Fire and Sword in Shensi," by E. H. Edwards, for twenty years a medical missionary in the province of which he writes.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will issue shortly "The Under Dog," a collection of thirteen stories by F. Hopkinson Smith; also, "The Modern Obstacle," by Alice Duer Miller, which deals with the complications in love and life brought about by the lack of money. The new Gibson book for this autumn is to be issued by the Scribners, the handling of this yearly feature of importance in the publishing world not having gone with the sale of R. H. Russell's business to the Harper firm.

W. H. LOWDERMILK & Co., Washington, D. C., have recently come into possession of a remarkable collection of original photographs and negatives taken by the celebrated photographer Brady. The collection includes several thousand pieces nearly every one a portrait of some eminent statesman, scientist, military or naval celebrity, author, actor, artist, clergyman, or of some man or woman of social prominence in this country or Europe. For illustrating purposes the collection is practically invaluable.

THE FELIBRIGE SOCIETY, founded nearly fifty years ago by Mistral, Roumanille and Aubanel, and four other less widely known Provençal poets, has authorized Mrs. Catherine A. Janvier, (care D. Appleton & Co.) to receive subscriptions in America for a monument to Felix Gras, to be erected in Avignon. Mrs. Janvier was the translator of "The Reds of the Midi" and its sequels, and the great appreciation given to these works by English readers had much to do with the making of his fame at home.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS will publish shortly a volume on "Napoleonic Statesmanship—Germany and France," by H. A. L. Fisher; the second volume of C. Oman's "History of the Peninsular War," the first volume of which has received high praise in many quarters; "Notes on the Hebrew Text of the Books of Kings," by C. F. Burney; an English edition of Schimper's "Geography of Plants," with many illustrations, by P. Groom and W. R. Fisher; "Experimental and Theoretical Course of Geometry," by A. T. Warren; also "Aeschylus' Persae, and Septem contra Thebas," edited by A. Sidgwick.

BRENTANO's, Union Square, New York City, have just issued "The Certainty of a Future Life in Mars." It purports to be the posthumous papers of Bradford Torrey Dodd, supplemented by a note from his executor, to which is added a description of the planet Mars by Giovanni Schiaparelli, the famous astronomer. Mr. Dodd's papers give a most startling account of an apparently authentic message from that planet to this earth. The volume is issued under the editorship of L. P. Gratacap, of the American Museum of Natural History, and is likely to attract no little attention from the scientist as well as the layman.

THE popularity of Miss Alcott's juvenile classic, "Little Women," is further attested by the fact that a third printing of the new illustrated edition, published last fall, has just been made necessary. Alice Barber Stephens's fifteen full-page pictures of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy and the other characters have brought forth the highest praise. Two editions of the illustrated editions of "Little Men," with pictures by Reginald B. Birch, and "An Old Fashioned Girl," with pictures by Jessie Willcox Smith, were also necessary, and next fall Little, Brown & Co. will bring out the fourth in the series, "Jo's Boys," with ten full-page plates by Charlotte Harding.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS has just issued the "Diary and Letters of William Müller," the poet and the father of the late Professor Max Müller, with explanatory notes and a biographical index edited by Philip Schuyler Allen, of the University of Chicago, and James Taft Hatfield, of the Northwestern University. Professor Max Müller discovered this diary of his father's among his mother's papers and the editors received it from his widow on May 14, 1901, who has ably assisted them all through its publication in collecting information upon the material now published. The Press has also just published a useful work for grade teachers, entitled "The Place of Industries in Elementary Education," by Katherine E. Dopp.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have issued the first volume of Gabriel Hanotaux's great work on the "History of Contemporary France," translated by John Charles Tarver, which deals with the period from February, 1871, to May 24, 1873, including the government of M. Thiers, the end of the Franco-Prussian War, the peace negotiations, and the debates in the national assembly. For illustrations there will be a frontispiece photogravure after the picture by Benjamin Constant of M. Hanotaux, a reproduction of the Leon Bonnat portrait of Adolph Thiers and pictures of Jules Favre, Mgr. Dupanloup and the Comte de Chambord. The succeeding volumes will follow at short intervals. They have also just ready volume 4 of the fine illustrated edition of "Social England," edited by H. D. Traill and J. S. Mann, which covers from the accession of James I. to the death of Queen Anne.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out the eighth volume of "The New International Encyclopædia," which like its predecessors is full of meat. Covering the alphabet from Fuller's earth to Halitherium, the volume describes upwards of three thousand items. Among the subjects that are treated at greater length than others are fungi, adequately illustrated with colored plates and drawings in black and white; furniture, fusion, the Galician church, game laws, garbage disposal, gas, germs, geodesy, geography, with a number of illustrations; the Georges, Georgia, with a colored map; German language, literature and theology; Germany, with maps; gill, glacier, with maps; Gladstone, Glasgow, glass, Goethe, gold, golf, gospel, Gothic architecture and art, government, U. S. Grant, grasses, Great Britain, with maps; Greece, Greek art, church and philosophy; gems and gypsies. The volume contains five fine colored plates, seven colored maps, and thirty-six full-page portraits and other illustrations. They have also made arrangements with George Barr McCutcheon, author of "Graustark," etc., to publish his new story, "The Sherrods," in which he deals with life in the middle West.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish early in May Miss Gwendolen Overton's new story, "The Crucible," the interest of which centres in the struggle of a brother and sister, whose strong and vigorous natures, the birthright of their race, enable them to overcome their passions; also, "A Gentleman of the South," a story of the south of antebellum days, by William Garrott Brown. They will publish early in June "Crypts of the Heart," James Lane Allen's new story. In July Winston Churchill's new novel may be expected; also, a book to which the readers of "Oldfield" will look forward with pleasure, "Around Anvil Rock," by Nancy Huston Banks. They have just made arrangements with Caspar Whitney for ten additional volumes in The American Sportman's Library. The first of the additional volumes will deal with the very important theme of photography for the sportsman naturalist. More and more sportsmen every day are bringing down their game with the camera instead of the rifle. The volumes to follow are concerned with these themes: The Sporting Dog; The American Race Horse and Running Horse; Trotting and Pacing; Riding and Driving; Yachting, Small Boat Sailing and Canoeing; Baseball and Football; Rowing, Track Athletics and Swimming; Lacrosse, Lawn-Tennis, Wrestling, Racquets, Squash, Court-Tennins; Skating, Hockey, Ice-Yachting, Coasting and Skate Sailing.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

The Black Lion Inn

By ALFRED HENRY LEWIS

Author of the "Wolfville" Stories

Mr. Lewis occupies a position upon which no one trenches. As a present-day exponent of the life of the American frontier his imagery is so vivid as to recall the best work of the late Bret Harte. The book is a record of adventures and experiences of the frequenters of the "Black Lion Inn," a resting-place for "The Old Cattleman" and other Wolfville characters. Fred-eric Remington, undisputedly the greatest artist of Western life, illustrates the volume with a dozen striking pictures.

Illustrated, ornamented. $1.50

The Redfield's Succession

By HENRY B. BOONE and
KENNETH BROWN

Authors of "Eastover Court House"

The scenes of this story are laid principally in Virginia and give an accurate and entertaining account of Virginia country life. The principal characters are a beautiful southern girl and an impecunious New York reporter, who, however, is a fine fellow at bottom, and descendant of an old Virginia family. The love story is cleverly managed and piques the reader's interest from first to last. Scenes of fox hunting and other country sports are described with fidelity yet with much dash and color.

Post, 8vo; ornamented cloth. $1.50

(Imprint of R. H. Russell.)

The Little Princess

By Mrs. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT

Author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy"

Mrs. Burnett has written an outline of the story of the little play that was produced recently at the Criterion Theatre in New York.

The souvenir is artistically printed with a cover in three colors and contains 16 pictures of Miss Millie James and leading scenes in the play.

Paper cover; size 9 x 6 ins., 10 cents

The Poems and Verses of Charles Dickens

Collected and Edited with Notes by
F. G. KITTON

Mr. Kitton is the greatest authority on Dickens. He has brought together into one volume all that author's verse collected from various sources and has added copious editorial and biographical notes. There is a frontispiece drawing by Maclise, R. A., etched in tint, representing Dickens and his wife and her sister.

Crown, 8vo; leather back; deckel edges; gilt top, $2.00 net, postage extra

NEW FINE ART PRINTS

(Imprint of R. H. Russell.)

American Beauties

By THOMAS MITCHELL PEIRCE

These include six of Mr. Peirce's latest and most beautiful drawings of the American girl. They are reproduced on the best quality of heavy coated paper that it is possible to make, and are handled throughout in a careful, painstaking manner by expert pressmen. The drawings have been delicately colored by hand.

Box of six drawings, 14½ x 20½ ins., $10.00; single prints, $2.00.

The same series has also been carefully reproduced in black and white, and make striking studies of the heads of beautiful women.

Box of six, $5.00; single prints, $1.50

(Imprint of R. H. Russell.)

Twelve Portraits

By WILLIAM NICHOLSON

New Series

This distinguished artist has added twelve new subjects to the list of famous personages whom he has portrayed in his well-known and peculiar poster-portrait style. Among these additions are portraits of President Roosevelt, Thomas A. Addison, Gen. Lord Kitchener, Mark Twain, Eleanor Duse, etc.

The reproductions are made in rich colors on heavy board.

Twelve prints in portfolio. Size 15 x 16½ ins., $7.50; single prints, mounted, $1.00

THOUGHT AND IDIOM

By

MARK HARVEY LIDDELL

The most beautiful American book thus far

Mr. Theodore L. DeVinne writes: "I regard these books" (the VARIORUM FITZ GERALD and ELIZABETHAN SHAKSPERE), "and especially, the Shakspeare as my best workmanship in typography."

1. It is the most beautiful set of books ever issued from an American press.
2. A new type, modeled from that used by the Venetian printer, Franz Renner, in his Quadragesimale, 1472. It is considered superior to the Jensen adopted by William Morris, and reproduces the highest achievement of fifteenth-century design. Mr. DeVinne had it cut to show that beauty and legibility depend not so much on blackness or thickness of type-stems as on instant visibility of every line.
3. A style of composition in which the notes form a complementary frame to the page—used by early printers for their finest annotated classics, but abandoned till now on account of its mechanical difficulties and expense.
4. The proportions of type to a page and the series of facing pages have been studied and adapted from the best work of the great Cologne printer, Henry Quentell.
5. The text is in 14 point, instantly legible and restful to the eye, while the notes are much larger than is usual in Shakspeare editions.
6. The notes read continuously, and are on the same page as the text. All citations are also given on the page. The reader gets Shakspeare's thought, in the light of modern scholarship, without leaving his library chair.
7. Each volume has a brief introduction containing the essential facts relative to the date of composition, sources, plot, characters, and literary features of the play.
8. Each scene has an introductory note outlining the action, and each act is followed by a summary of the play up to the following act.
9. An elaborate index, in itself a dictionary, enables the student to group together the various peculiar features or to find meanings or idioms that interest him. The sixty columns of index in MACBETH are a storehouse of inestimable value. If one wishes, for instance, to know what words in this play have been amended by different editors, he merely turns to page 235, where, under "Emendations," is a list with full references. There has never been any similar feature of a Shakspeare so ingeniously devised and so thoroughly worked out.
10. In a word this is the perfect Shakspeare thus far—remarkable in beauty and in ease of reading. The average man cannot read the plays intelligently without it. With it, he needs nothing else: no dictionaries to consult, no grammars to refer to, not even cross-references to look up.

J. S. Ogilvie Publishing Co.'s New Books

We desire to call your attention to a new book we have just issued which has already had a sale of over 100,000 copies in England. The title is

"WEE MACGREEGOR"

By J. J. BELL

12mo, 192 Pages. Paper Cover, 25 Cents; Bound in Cloth, 50 Cents

This author has told in a wonderful manner the humorous story of a Scotch boy and his experiences with his parents and friends.

It has been pronounced equal, if not superior, to anything that Barrie has written, and will undoubtedly have a large sale. Every dealer should order some copies of it. It is issued as No. 122 of our popular Sunnyside Series.

SOMETHING NEW IN DETECTIVE STORIES!

We call your attention to the following line of New Detective Stories, in handsome lithograph covers, under the title of

INTERESTING ESSAYS

Of Education

By R. R. BOWKER. 16mo, 75 cents

Of Religion

By R. R. BOWKER. 16mo, 50 cents

Two other chapters from Mr. Bowker's "The Arts of Life" are now published separately in handy form. In the volume on education are included two recent papers by Mr. Bowker on "The Scholar" and "The College of To-day" which bear directly upon the question of the relation between the university and the college. Of the longer essay the Hartford Courant said: "Very seldom indeed has a more illuminating word been written on education."

PUBLISHERS are gradually realizing the importance of two vital facts, especially when contemplating having large editions bound.

FIRST—To have their books bound in the best possible manner.

SECOND—To save enough money thereon as will guarantee an enormous annual extra dividend.

You are certainly not averse to making money. Ask me to submit samples and estimates. You will then follow the lead of some of the best publishing houses who find it profitable to give me their work.

JUST READY

The Annual
American Catalogue
CUMULATED

1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, will be ready April 15, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

THESE FOUR IMPORTANT BOOKS

On the Polar Star in the Arctic Sea

By H. R. H. the DUKE OF THE ABRUZZI

The Polar Record Broken

The book which people all over the world are eagerly anticipating. For it is the most important book of its kind since the Nansen book and will be of even greater interest, since the Ducal party reached a point farther north than any other band of explorers has ever done. The record is complete and authentic in every detail.

The Aaron Burr Conspiracy

By WALTER F. McCALEB, Ph.D.

From Entirely Original and Unknown Sources

In the Bexar Archives in San Antonio, Texas, a number of documents relating to Burr were found wholly by chance. These led to the discovery of State Documents relating to Aaron Burr, in the City of Mexico, entirely unknown to the world. In the State Archives in Washington more unused material was found. All of this matter beside much more gathered in Great Britain and the Mississippi Valley, go to make up a book of surpassing interest.

A Word to the Bookseller

NOTE.—It isn't our business to teach you your business. But we may be able to give you some pointers on selling our books. From time to time we shall make an attempt at it, on this page.

A BOOK that has been reviewed, not with approbation alone, but with real enthusiasm, by the best papers throughout the country, has a basis for selling strongly in that very fact. Here are some brief opinions of Conjuror's House from papers whose book pages are not mere formal mention, but the opinions of competent men who criticise honestly and frankly, and whose judgment therefore carries weight. What we might say ourselves of Stewart White's romance of the Canadian forests, they say better.

"An extremely good story in every way."—N. Y. Sun.

"A captivating love story."—Detroit Free Press.

"Full of dramatic force."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"A splendid and impressive novel."—Louisville Times.

"Absorbingly interesting."—St. Louis Republic.

"Full of the magic of the North."—Charleston News and Courier.

"Dramatic, brief, full of intensity."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

"An original and striking story."—Indianapolis Journal.

"The topmost height of romantic narrative."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

"A strongly dramatic story."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Full of the grandeur of the forests."—Philadelphia Item.

"A romance that breathes enchantment."—Kansas City Star.

An even dozen of opinions ; we wish we could give them at greater length. The novel has begun to "catch on." It was fourth on the list of best selling books in New York last week. It has the romantic qualities to put it at the top of every list, with a little pushing.

And in pushing this book you will of course remember that Stewart Edward White's previous novel, The Blazed Trail, is in its 12th edition, and selling steadily.

Conjuror's House. Illustrated by C. S. Chapman. $1.25

Already the re-orders have begun to come in on Golden Fleece. There's success written on every page of this lively novel—look into it and see.
